1. Chair’s Communication

The Vice Chair, Jaki Lowe advised the Board that unfortunately Dan Howard (Chair) was unable to make the meeting as he is unwell. Therefore Jaki Lowe would Chair the meeting and sent to Dan Howard good wishes for a speedy recovery from all of the Trustees.

Jaki Lowe highlighted this would be the last Board meeting for Kristian, Martyn and Jim as they stand down at the end of the year and special thanks would be given to them at the end of the meeting.

Jaki Lowe then opened the meeting with a welcome to everyone. She said it had been an especially busy period and wanted to record the excellent work of Duncan Dollimore and his team for their campaigning media TV and radio interviews recently and they had done a brilliant job for Cycling UK – well done to him and the team. This period has also seen the Trustees building its’ capacity as a Board and the sub committees are working well and were all recognised for their efforts. Appreciation was also recognised for the contribution of Carol McKinley for all the work she has done supporting sub-committees and the Board. The SMT have recently had an away day to take forward work on the strategy and explore how they can make the improvements highlighted in the staff survey. The other excellent event to report on is the Big Bike Celebration attended by some Trustees who reported that right from the start the room was buzzing and they all came away exhausted but proud to be part of Cycling UK. The speakers were all brilliant, full of passion, interest and enthusiasm. Rachel Kirkwood said the whole event was really well run everything from strategy, planning and logistics worked really well and thanks to Matt Mallinder and his team for all the hard work – well done. The big question is – how will we beat it next year!

3. Declaration of ‘Conflicts of Interest’

Jaki Lowe said the Equalities item had been dealt with at the April Board and the action point was to engage Carole Claridge to produce a working paper which has been done and a strategy and outline paper to come to the next board.

Welna Bowden referred to Action point 4 – Trustee Appraisals – saying that she had not yet had her appraisal. This was an oversight and would be arranged. Once this had been completed a report would be circulated to the Board.

7. Chief Executive’s Report – (Confidential)

Paul Tuohy referred to his circulated report and highlighted that we have just completed a highly successful financial year. In line with an objective to seek to diversify income and partnerships, he attended a Public Health England Conference and with support from Janet Atherton was able to network to key influencers in this arena for future development. He reported that he would continue to seek to build new relationships with other funding bodies where cycling can be promoted as a preventative solution to public health. He informed the Board that with speakers such as Will Norman, the Mayor of London’s Cycling Commissioner promoting their work on cycling in the capital, that Public Health England is warming to the prevention approach that cycling and walking offers. Cycling UK need to work on this pushing our BBR evaluation work as evidence.

Jonathan Naughton suggested a brain-storming meeting to write a short bullet pointed framework paper to present to the DfT. Janet Atherton thought this would be a good idea and Roger Geffen should also be included in this.

Action Point 1: Roger Geffen to arrange a meeting to discuss and produce a framework paper.

Matt Mallinder reported that the marketing team is performing well on Membership recruitment with renewals high and new members ahead of last year. However with all the recent media coverage it would like to be higher on recruitment. That said he reported that since the July meeting, all three months have shown a net growth in membership from 64,260 to 64,657. To bolster this result, the team are working on a new Christmas advertising with a lights offer, prospect mailings and a new look membership pack welcome and renewal pack which will give the new member an enhanced experience. He felt the communications output is well balanced and the Google ad work is helping spread our name greatly. We are still not getting the support that we would like from the trade press. When asked, the reply is “you are doing well so why would we write about you”, so we will keep pushing in this area.

In response to questioning from the Board, Roger Geffen updated the meeting on the latest Government policy developments, particularly in relation to its ‘cycle safety review’.

The focus on building the capabilities in the organisation is encouraging

It feels there is the right balance of managing the large and small of the ‘P’ in Politics and this is a delicate path being trodden well

Congratulations to all who worked on the website – it is brilliant.

There seemed to be more of a general theme on getting people cycling which is a positive transition.

The Business plan is much improved and the Board now feel confident it can see the way forward.

Thank you to everyone of their contribution.

The meeting closed at 2.20 and the following thanks were given to the Trustees standing down by Jaki Lowe:-

Kristian Gregory:
Was the youth of the group and had been involved with CUK prior to joining the board, particularly linking with Roger Geffen and his team. Kristian was with us in very challenging times and transition. Having spoken to Kristian it makes it even clearer about the need to support new board members effectively into their role so as not to repeat the experience Kristian had. Campaigning is very high on his agenda and we must applaud him for his work in that field and thank him for all his contributions.

Martyn Bolt:
Good to see you today, Martyn is someone who has been involved with National Office, in the locality as well as on the board. As a board we need to be strategic, serve our members and act in accordance with good governance and our governing policies. We have appreciated Martyn’s attention to detail and again working with us through the changes. We wish Martyn the best of luck in the future and thanked Martyn for his contributions.

Jim Brown:
Jim's contribution to Cycling UK / CTC has been significant over many years. When Jim joined the Council - around 30 years ago – many challenges were being faced, including lower than expected membership growth and a need for Council to step in to resolve operational issues.

Since then Jim has played an instrumental role in many different areas of our work. Jim started as the Councillor for Scotland and subsequently East of England. He’s been Vice-Chair. He supported Stevenage CTC becoming one of our leading Member Groups and thanks to Jim, leadership of this group has now passed to younger members and Jim’s legacy lives on through his excellent organised rides. Not many rides have ‘Ride Makers’ in uniform or the Mayor to start the ride – it isn’t clear whether he borrowed the Ride Makers idea from the Olympics or vice versa!

Jim has made a significant contribution to member engagement – and perhaps one of Jim’s greatest strengths was always pushing the Board to continually think about, and do more for, those on limited incomes to make sure as many people as possible can enjoy cycling.
Not many of our Board members have in the past – or maybe will in the future – dedicate so many years of their lives to Cycling UK. Whether it’s discussion in the Council Chamber, the café on a ride, or at a member group event you have made a lasting difference and we hope Cycling UK will continue to be a large part of your life, albeit in a slightly different way – hopefully with you spending more time riding your bike.

Jim has been throughout my time been a champion of diversity and we have a duty to continue that work in his ongoing memory.

Thank you Jim for your time, dedication and support you’re shown to Cycling UK, and best wishes for the future.
