GET COVERED

If you're booking a cycling holiday, you'll want to be sure that you and your bike are fully covered. Bikmo's specialist policies cover everything you'd expect from travel insurance – but with cyclists in mind. The policies even include an option for competitive cycling and cycling at altitude, something many insurers don't cover. As a Cycling UK member, you can claim a 10% discount on the Bikmo travel insurance. cyclinguk.org/bikmo-travel

GO HOSTELLING

If you're bikepacking in England or Wales – riding one of Cycling UK's long-distance routes? – or looking for a base from which to plan some cycling, a hostel could be the ideal option. YHA has hostels in some of both countries' most stunning locations. Cycling UK members receive a 50% discount on new memberships, which gives you 10% off accommodation and pre-booked meals. cyclinguk.org/yha-membership

CYCLING HOLIDAYS SORTED

As you read this the weather almost certainly won't be ideal for cycling. At the time of writing, it's cold, wet and overcast. However, glimmers of better days to come are appearing as the days get longer, the sun shows its face – and is that almond blossom on the trees?

As thoughts turn to spring and summer cycling, it's time to start planning those adventures by bike – whether that's day rides, a long-distance UK bikepacking tour or a trip somewhere in the sun. And we have the perfect member benefit to help you get the most out of your cycling holiday.

Saddle Skedaddle is Cycling UK's new official holiday partner. The company has almost 30 years' experience offering cycling holidays around the world, whether that's as part of a small, guided group or self-guided with friends and family. It offers more than 180 cycling holidays in the UK, Europe and beyond, and the team of experts there takes care of all the logistics, including luggage transfers and accommodation, so you can simply enjoy the ride.

Saddle Skedaddle is offering Cycling UK members an amazing 50% discount on bike hire for all UK, Spain and Italy tours, worth up to £300. You can also claim an extra £75 off the UK holidays listed on the right. Hurry, though: these exclusive offers both end on 31 March.

- King Alfred's Way – a 220-mile circular tour through the ancient kingdom of Wessex, weaving across rolling rural landscapes and along twisty woodland trails.
- Rebellion Way – trace the history of Kett's Rebellion and warrior queen Boudicca as you explore the waterways, forests, historic villages and seaside towns of Norfolk.
- The Wolf Way – created by local cycling enthusiasts and supported by Cycling UK, the Wolf Way traces ancient routes and historic treasures in Suffolk.
- Pennine Bridleway – covering a section of Cycling UK's Great North Trail, the Pennine Bridleway is the longest continuous off-road biking route in the UK.

What's more, when you join one of these four tours, Saddle Skedaddle will donate to Cycling UK 5p for every mile that you pedal on holiday. The company is ABTOT protected and an ABTA member, so you can rest assured that your money is safe.

Saddle Skedaddle will be offering members different discounts during the year, so check back regularly to see what you can save. Visit: cyclinguk.org/saddle-skedaddle.
